Baruch Forward Fall 2021: Welcome Back, Faculty and Staff!

Dear Colleagues,

After nearly a year and a half of working remotely due to the Covid-19 pandemic, the Baruch College leadership team and I are happy to welcome you back to campus next week! I invite you to visit our Faculty and Staff FAQs page on the Baruch Forward website. There, you will find critical information about accessing campus, testing protocols, and additional health and safety measures that have been implemented. The situation is dynamic and evolving to meet circumstances, so make sure you visit this webpage often for real-time updates.

In addition to the general campus guidelines, faculty can also expect additional guidance from Provost and SVP for Academic Affairs Linda Essig tomorrow, August 11, in response to questions she has received regarding the teaching environment.

Thank you for your determination and flexibility during this time. We look forward to welcoming you back to campus, and although there may be unexpected bumps along the way, we appreciate your resiliency.

Sincerely,

Katharine T. Cobb
